EXERTING POWER TO RECOVER BODY

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., February 26.—The American Government today was exerting every influence at its disposal to obtain from General Villa the surrender of the body of William S. Benton, the British subject recently executed at Juarez.

No reply had been received to the instructions sent to Consul Fletcher yesterday to find Benton's grave, and Secretary Bryan was surprised by news dispatches quoting Villa as saying Benton was buried in Chihuahua City. There have been persistent reports here too that the body was cremated.

Official denial came from the White House of one published report that Rear Admiral Fletcher had recommended the landing of marines at Vera Cruz. Another published report which attracted attention of officials was to the effect that the American Embassy in Mexico City had been equipped with machine guns. The only arms there it was said were several rifles imported just before the street fighting that ended in Madero's downfall.

HUERTA BARS OUT AMERICAN MARINES

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Mexico, February 26.—Provisional President Huerta today refused permission to the United States government to send 2000 American marines as a guard for the Legations here. This information came direct from General Huerta himself.

General Huerta says he was asked by Washington to agree to the dispatch, in addition to the Americans, of 1000 more men made up of Germans, French and English. To all these he returned a negative reply, on the ground that there was no need for such precautions. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, in charge of the Embassy at Mexico City, refuses either to confirm or deny the information.

PRESIDENT WILSON DENIES MAKING REQUEST

Washington, D. C., February 26.—Word came direct from President Wilson himself today that the United States had never requested permission to send marines to Mexico City and had not discussed nor taken up the subject in any way with Mexican officials.

HUERTA CALLED

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., February 26.—Officials here made it plain that Huerta's announcement of having received a request from the United States to place marines in the legations, was made for effect in Mexico City, and to emphasize the provisional president's repeated assurance to the foreigners, of no danger.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy denied any knowledge of the proposal. According to reports it reached Huerta through other channels.

President Wilson personally told callers that government officials had in no way discussed with the Huerta government the sending of marines to Mexico City.

COLLEGE GIRLS ESCAPE FIRE

By Associated Press.

Gambier, Ohio, February 26.—Dozens of girls clad only in filmy night clothes, were rescued in zero weather early today from the girls' dormitory of Harcourt Seminary by boys of Gambier College, when the dormitory caught fire. No lives were lost and the fire was extinguished after it had badly damaged the building.

First Picture of Japan's Terrible Volcano Eruption

THIS is the first photograph to reach America of the terrible eruption of the Japanese volcano Sakurashima. Sudden death and widespread devastation totaling hundreds of lives and millions in property values accompanied the disaster. It was the worst of its kind in many years. The picture was taken from a cemetery located in a part of the surrounding country that had partly escaped destruction. The volcano is seen still pouring forth its clouds of volcanic ashes and vapor.

GUNMEN TO DIE IN WEEK OF APRIL 13

By Associated Press.

Albany, February 26.—Gyp the Blood, Lefty Louie, Whitey Lewis and Dago Frank, the four gunmen jointly convicted with former police lieutenant, Charles Becker, for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, will be electrocuted during the week beginning April 13th. The date was fixed by the court of appeals today when the judges signed the four death warrants.

KAHN PLEADS ARCHER TALKS FOR NEW DEAL MASSIE SILENT

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., February 26.—"Deadly and Drifting" is much more descriptive of America's policy toward Mexico, than "watching and waiting," said Republican representative Kahn, of California, in an address this afternoon before the House.

While opposing armed intervention he said the present policy, unless speedily changed, must lead to intervention. He expressed the hope that a new policy would be adopted at once.

DEMAND ANOTHER VICTIM'S REMAINS

By Associated Press.

Laredo, Texas, Feb. 26.—United States Consul Garrett and S. J. Hill, brother-in-law of Clemente Vergara, were expected to reach the scene of Vergara's execution by Mexican Federalists near Hidalgo, Mexico, today.

The Consul's visit to Hidalgo is for the purpose of demanding formally that Vergara's body be surrendered to the family for burial. Opposition to this was not expected, for at last reports the body was still hanging to a tree and the Mexican troops have not denied the manner of his death.

CANADIAN PEN BURNS

By Associated Press.

Montreal, Canada, Feb. 26.—A fire which broke out today in the St. Vincent De Paul penitentiary, a state institution, destroyed the hospital annex and did extensive damage to the surgical department. No lives were lost. There were 399 prisoners in the institution.

TWO THOUSAND ATTEND GET TOGETHER MEET

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, February 26.—Ohio Republicans, estimated to number between 1500 and 2000, attended a "get-together" dinner here today, which was planned to reunite the Republicans and Progressives. D. Meade Massie, Chillicothe editor, in an address characterized Governor Cox as "a common enemy" against whose Democratic machine all good citizens should unite. Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, flayed monopoly and endorsed Woman's Suffrage. Whether the meeting was actually a "get-together" between the two factions of the Republican party was disputed. Republican leaders said twenty per cent of those attending had voted the Progressive ticket in 1912.

Charles L. Thurber, Secretary of the State Executive Committee of the Progressive party gave out a statement denying a return of the Progressives to the Republicans. The meeting was "merely a getting together of the old stand-pat crowd that was so overwhelmingly defeated at the polls in 1912," he said. "There is no possibility of the Progressives being coaxed back into the reactionary Republican ranks," Thurber said.

By Associated Press.

Columbus, O., Feb. 26.—Republicans and a few Progressives from all parts of the state gathered here today to attend the "get together" dinner held at Memorial Hall, and hear addresses by D. Meade Massie, Chillicothe editor, formerly a Progressive and mentioned as a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and United States Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho.

Mr. Massie sounded what is acknowledged to be the key-note of the Republican state campaign next fall. He characterized Governor Cox as "the master mind of the mad but methodical present state administration," and called upon "fellow Republicans and fellow Progressives to get together and make a united fight against the common enemy."

Plotting to build a powerful political machine with the governor as absolute dictator was charged against Governor Cox, whose name, however, he did not mention.

Senator Borah praised the record of the Republican party for the last 60 years and declared that was sufficient proof of its worthy of support in the future. He attacked the Democratic tariff as "ruinous for the farmers of the country and productive of no lower price for consumers," and hammered the Progressive party for its policy of regulating monopolies.

"Monopoly must and will be destroyed by the Republican party," he said. "Try to regulate monopoly as the third party people wish, and monopoly will soon regulate the regulators."

Mr. Massie in his address made a plea to come back into the Republican fold, as he declared he had done. Senator Borah, however, heaped scorn on the Progressive policies and his invitation to return to the parent party was implied but not directly expressed.

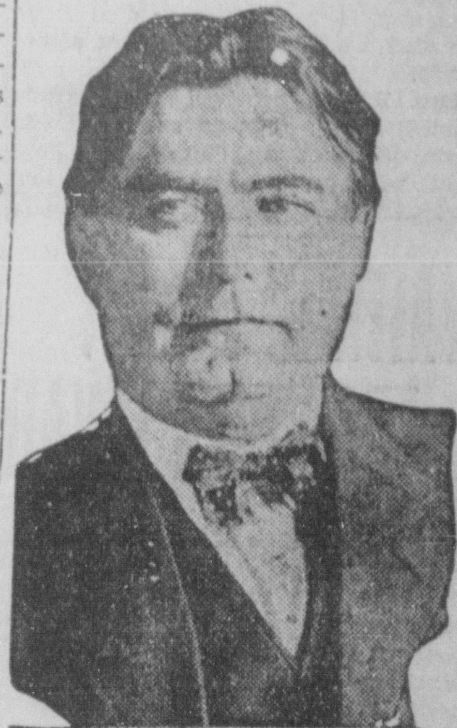

W. S. Kerr of Mansfield was toastmaster at the dinner. Tables were spread over the first floor of the Memorial Hall for the dinner, which was expected to start at 1 o'clock this afternoon, but which was late in beginning. Hundreds of spectators, including many women, thronged the balconies to watch the diners and listen to the speeches. Spirit ran high and the speakers were interrupted frequently with applause.

Many delegations came in special cars from all parts of the state and an entire train load brought Lucas county Republicans from Toledo. The feast ended late in the afternoon and most of the delegations expected to leave for home tonight.

Almost before the dinner was called, the gathering had become a hot-bed of bees for would-be candidates at the Republican primaries to be held next August. Lucas county Republicans worked hard to start a substantial boom for Mayor Carl Keller of Toledo, for the nomination for governor. Mr. Massie was mentioned by many as the most desirable candidate because of his expected ability to attract many former Progressives. Hamilton county Republicans talked much of the strength of Mayor Frederick Spiegel of Cincinnati. Judge David Davis, of Cincinnati, an announced candidate, also had many supporters in the delegation.

Receptive candidates for minor state office nominations were several times more numerous than the offices they hoped to fill.

"No state has ever seen a more cunningly devised, powerful and far-reaching political machine than that which is now being constructed in Ohio," said Mr. Massie, attacking the Democratic administration's record since Governor Cox entered the office of governor a year ago.

He cited a number of commissions created by the eightieth general assembly. This always had been under the direct powerful influence of the governor, he declared, and the governor had increased his power by prescribing laws which would have this effect. The Democratic platform of encouraging home rule had been grossly violated by the creations of the tax commissioners in each county by the governor, he declared.

Mr. Massie cited figures to show the increased cost of running the state government under the Harmon and Cox administrations, as compared with the cost under the Republican administration of Governor Harris.

"The governor of Ohio and the general assembly have been far more solicitous about creating commissions and having money at their dis-

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 26.—That heavy internal, as well as external, pressure is being brought to bear on General Villa to induce him to deliver the body of William S. Benton to the widow in El Paso, or at least to allow American authorities to view the remains, was evidenced by the departure from Juarez on a special train of two commissioners, prominent Mexicans, who will lay the case before Villa and urge him to reconsider his decision to hold the corpse. Representations made by the American government through American consular agents to Constitutional authorities in Juarez resulted in the departure for Chihuahua of the rebel commanders.

The identity of the commissioners has not been disclosed. Their mission is one of explanation. It is said that they will explain to Villa that false impressions have been created throughout the United States and England by his refusal to allow the body to be sent across the border or viewed by anyone except the rebel authorities and members of the execution guard.

As usual in Mexican affairs, the story takes a new turn every hour. The latest story is that Benton was stabbed in Villa's office and was then shot to finish him or died from the stab wounds and was shot afterwards.

Mrs. Benton received a telegram from British Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice saying that Consul Peraval will begin his investigation here and in Juarez immediately.

WAITING POLICY LEADING TO WAR

Washington, Feb. 26.—Grave doubts have arisen as to Villa's intentions to satisfy the demands of the United States, representing Great Britain, for such an examination of the body of Benton, the British raider, as will permit the determination of the manner of his death.

Additional disturbing complications were found in the killing of another American, this time by the federals, and the growing feeling in official quarters that Gustav Bauch, the German-American who was in prison at Juarez last week, is now dead.

Evidence continues to accumulate that congress is chafing under the repeated reports of Mexican depredations upon American life and property. The first of what is likely to be a long series of attacks upon the administration's Mexican policy took place in the house when Representative Alney of Pennsylvania, who is a candidate for the United States sen-

MURPHY AND HI FAIL TO AGREE

The following information concerning Heironimus, former pitcher for the Washington Athletics, is from the Sabina Tribune, and will be of interest to his friends in this city: The only one of this place who has won fame in the base ball world, W. V. Heironimus, finds just as he is getting ready to be called out for the season, that the lines have become a little crossed as to salary.

Last summer he signed up with Frank Murphy, a brother of the famous Charles Murphy, at $200 a month for the season of '14. Last September Murphy wrote him to come to Chicago to get acquainted and in practice. He did so and signed up for the same price for the remainder of '13 and while he was there only three weeks he was paid $200 for his time.

Now Murphy writes him he is to have only $150 a month by reason that that is the limit paid new beginners. This don't strike "Hi" a little as business and he insists the written contract be lived up to, and so the difficulty has gone to the committee for settlement. When told he was to go to the Central League, he was told he would be paid the $200 by them, he says.

He was assigned to the Terre Haute nine which is in the league with Ft. Wayne, Evansville, Hamilton, Dayton and Springfield.

"English as She Is Spoke."

In a select private school where the English spoken—even by the youngest—would delight Henry James, one of the fifth grade teachers chanced to meet one of her former pupils who had been promoted to a higher grade, and she said:

"How do you do, Harold? Are you getting on well?"

"Yep," answered Harold.

"My, Harold! Is that the way you are taught to speak?" And Harold most unconcernedly answered, "Nope!"

REPUBLICAN HARMONY MEETING UNDER WAY

Columbus, O., Feb. 26.—With every county in the state represented, Ohio Republicans are holding their harmony meeting this afternoon in Memorial hall. Features of the occasion are the big feast and oratory from leaders of the party.

Festivities opened shortly after 1 o'clock. On the speakers' table on the stage and on the long tables on the parquet floor were placed 1,560 plates, and at each plate sat a guest. Fifteen hundred others were served a buffet lunch in the auditorium on the balcony floor and those heard the speeches from the balcony chairs.

It is a notable assemblage. The 88 counties of the state sent delegations ranging in size from 5 to 250, many of these bringing along brass bands. Secretary William H. Miller of the state executive committee hired the Chamber of Commerce auditorium for an overflow meeting.

Speaking followed the luncheon, ex-Congressman Winfield S. Kerr of Mansfield acting as toastmaster. The principal orators were ex-Senator D. Mead Massie of Chillicothe, who discussed state issues and Senator William E. Borah, Progressive Republican, of Idaho. Impromptu speeches from ex-Senator Foraker, Senator Burton, Chairman Daugherty, Chairman Parmenter, Congressman Willis and Congressman Fess will be called for later in the day.

Ex-Senator Massie is being boomed for governor, because of his having been selected as the speaker to represent the Republicans who preferred Roosevelt to Taft at least until Roosevelt left the party. Among others mentioned for the gubernatorial nomination are Frank B. Willis, Simeon D. Fess, Mayor Karl Keller of Toledo, William H. Boyd and Paul Howland of Cleveland, ex-Congressman Grant Mouser of Marlon and Judge David Davis of Cincinnati.

What Borah Said.

Mr. Borah reviewed the achievements of the Republican party since its inception, and declared the only attack ever successfully made against it was in the organization which he said had been changed. He said that, according to his third party friends, the Republican party had been a great party, "doing grand deeds, imbued with great purposes, worthy of the fealty and devotion of such leaders as they were until about 5 o'clock one June evening in the year 1912. The transformation took place just about that hour. It then became bad, wholly bad, not only its organization but its millions of voters and everybody connected with it."

The senator proceeded:

When our Democratic friends were seeking the power which they now so completely enjoy, they assured us that their first duty would be to reduce the cost of living, that great interests and monopolies had been built up under protection and that they would immediately distribute the profits among the people. So when they came into power they looked over the field to see who was making too much money and getting too much profit and who therefore must bear the brunt of the reduction. They concluded it was the farmer. His profits were too large. He must be denied even the incidental protection which might arise by reason of a revenue tariff.

Well, they put the farmer upon the free trade basis. Everything which he raises he sells in the open market, while everything which he buys has a duty on it which in some instances is high enough to give full protection and very generally incidental.

Cost of Living.

Notwithstanding this condition of affairs, we are informed by a report of the department of agriculture, using the exact language of the report, that prices paid by the consumer are not to be any lower. Somebody must be thriving because the price of farm products to the farmer have been pushed down, the price of articles into which the farmer's products are made have gone up, and the foreign importer is in the market.

I understand perfectly how our friends of the Democratic party could support this proposition because it is in accordance with their teachings. They believe in free trade, in spots, at least. But I do not understand how our third party friends can endorse that policy. And yet it received the votes of all the declared members of that party in the senate and the most of the members of that party in the house.

Now, my friends, as briefly as I may, I want to refer to the subject of monopoly and what we as a people are to do with that form of business combination which exercises monopolistic powers and practices monopolistic methods.

I have but one answer so far as I am concerned, simple, searching and conclusive—destroy the monopoly. Big business is one thing, monopoly is another. But monopoly is at war with independent citizenship and free institutions; it finally destroys the one and ultimately undermines the other. I would not compromise with it, and whatever regulation or control seems necessary for legitimate business I would never seek to regulate and control monopoly in any form.

Replies to Beveridge.

Mr. Beveridge, who has spoken to you eloquently and effectively, says that trusts and monopolies are the richest, ripest fruits of civilization. He says in print that the beef monopoly, the steel monopoly, the Standard Oil monopoly and all monopolies are the result of the combination of genius and energy and of great benefit to the people. "These industrial organizations have steadied the whole commercial world and have extended the period of prosperity by the steadiness they have given to the commercial and financial world. . . . More than that, they have actually caused, compelled, the organization of labor on modern lines." I do not know just what he has reference to by "modern lines," but I hardly presume he refers to the fact that an investigation two years ago disclosed that the steel trust worked men 12 hours a day and seven days in the week.

The other day a distinguished senator in unrestrained exultation placed in the Congressional Record as evidence of a bursting prosperity the rise in stocks and bonds, etc. The next morning the New York World told us that there were 350,000 men out of employment in New York city. The same day the industrial commission advised us that we were up against the proposition as a government of caring for the thousands and thousands of the unemployed and hungry. And within two days thereafter came from the department of agriculture a statement of the constant increase in the price of the necessities of life.

This is the prosperity which these combinations brought. This is the "steadying of business" to which the eloquent senator from Indiana refers. This is the compelling of labor to organize on "modern lines," and over which the same senator exults. This is monopoly and its effect in all its hideous, heartless, hellish savagery.

Antiquity of Spectacles.

The ordinary magnifying spectacles with convex lenses came into use some time near the end of the thirteenth century. Their invention is generally attributed to two Italians, Armati and Spina. As a matter of fact at this time old people in Germany were wearing glasses. According to G. H. Oliver, writing in the British Medical Journal, the first use of concave lenses was of much later date, probably not until the middle of the sixteenth century. It appears that at first the doctors were down on glasses because they interfered with the sale of lotions for weak eyes. Their first mention by a doctor is credited to Bernard Gordon, professor in Montpellier, who informed the world that they were unnecessary, thanks to his wonderful lotions. In these early days their use was limited for many reasons. They were clumsy and ill shaped, making the wearer conspicuous and subjecting him to ridicule oftentimes of far from gentle type. And above all they were very expensive. For example, Dr. Oliver says, "At the end of the sixteenth century the price per pair, expressed in terms of present day value, was from $50 to $100."

Ginseng in China.

Much of the American ginseng sent to China brings small prices because it shows cultivation, being smooth, round and light in color. What is wanted is the wild looking root. The central theory of the use of ginseng decoction is that it combines in itself the virtues of nature—wind, water, woods, the elements and wild nature generally; hence the gnarled, twisted wild root is the ideal, and any domesticated or cultivated variety is merely a substitute. This substitute ought to be as near like the wild as possible. If the root grows in the shape of or seems to bear some resemblance, even by severe stretch of the imagination, to some animal it has increased virtue in the trade. For this and similar reasons it is necessary that the small head of the root joined to the rest of the root by a small neck shall remain a part of the product. Breaking off such little heads reduces the value of the root in the Chinese market by fully half, as a rule.—Chicago News.

Sad Case and Its Lesson

In the city of Cincinnati a few days ago two detectives were armed with a warrant calling for the arrest of a man who was charged with having forged a check for twelve dollars.

When the detectives arrived at the home of the accused man to take him into custody, their hearts almost failed them. These officers, accustomed to suffering, misery and crime in all its harrowing phases, were unprepared for the sight which confronted them.

The accused man, his wife and four children were huddled together in one cheerless room, almost devoid of any furniture at all and with scarcely food enough for one meal for one person. There was no fire in the room and no fuel.

The accused man met the officers at the door, acknowledged his guilt promptly and pointing a finger to the interior of the room, announced:

"That's the answer. That is why I passed that check. I have been out of work and the little ones need food and clothing."

Later investigation proved that the man was industrious and had theretofore been honest; that he had tried to obtain work and was unsuccessful and that to his narrow vision it was crime or the little family must starve.

Fortunately these cases are rare, but it is unfortunate that any such case ever occur.

This great land of ours is big enough and rich enough to furnish a living, at least to every one willing to work for it, and there is something wrong with the plan of society which makes it possible for such a deplorable condition as that one at Cincinnati to exist at all.

Just as long as such pitiful cases are possible we will have agitations and changes.

Until the great mass of people are assured that such conditions are not possible, organized society must, and will, continue to change and to improve.

There is no need to worry about those who can and will not work. Society need not concern itself with the woes which come to those who are at fault, but society must continue to concern itself with the welfare of the man who is willing to work and cannot find work to do.

It is cases like the one just instanced which sometimes drive sympathetic folks, when they realize the unequal distribution of wealth, to the dangerous extremes of Socialism.

Because such cases are possible under the present social order is no reason why the whole social fabric should be destroyed and the unworthy made to share equally with the worthy.

It is reason, however, why society should waste no time in so reforming conditions that worthy and able bodied men may rest secure in the knowledge that food and clothing for themselves and for their family will come as certainly as they are willing to pay its equivalent in work.

In this land of plenty there should be no doubt about the ability of every man who is willing to work to earn his living.

Some of Our Railroads Are Becoming Thin And Emaciated

By ALFRED H. SMITH, President New York Central Railroad

AS A GENERAL PROPOSITION, THE RAILROADS OF THIS COUNTRY ARE PHYSICALLY STRONG. IT HAS BEEN STATED THEY CARRY HIGH CLASS FREIGHT AT THE RATE OF ONE TON THREE MILES FOR THE VALUE OF A TWO CENT POSTAGE STAMP; THAT THEY CARRY ONE TON OF DEAD FREIGHT FOUR MILES FOR ONE CENT. NOT ALL OF THEM ARE MAKING MONEY AT THESE RATES. SOME OF THEM ARE GETTING THIN AND EMACIATED.

There is criticism afoot that the railroads have not used their money judiciously. It is HARD TO INDICT THE WHOLE COUNTRY OR INDUSTRY REPRESENTATIVE THEREOF. The efficiency and integrity of these railroads must be judged by facts palpable to all—their strength in heavy steel rails, good ballast, steel cars, modern signal systems and other appurtenances that constitute a safe transportation machine whose efficiency is proved by paying the highest wages for services rendered by its employees and furnishing transportation at the lowest cost.

THIS IS A SIMPLE PROBLEM. THOSE WHO CONFUSE IT AND COMPLICATE IT SERVE ONLY TO HIDE THE TRUTH. IN ESTABLISHING THE COMMISSIONS THE PEOPLE HAVE PROVIDED A MEANS OF SEARCHING OUT THE FACTS AND TRUTH OF THE MATTER IN ORDER THAT THEY, THE PEOPLE, MAY DO JUSTICE AND RIGHT. THE RAILROADS HAVE HOPE AND CONFIDENCE IN THESE BODIES IN THIS WORK. BY THEIR EFFORTS TO LEARN AND SPEAK THE WHOLE TRUTH OF THESE RAILROADS, THEY ARE BOUND TO PERPETUATE AND ENHANCE THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PEOPLE IN THESE GREAT PROPERTIES, TO THE END THAT THEY MAY GROW AND BE MORE AND MORE SERVICEABLE TO THE NATION AND ITS PEOPLE.

Poetry For Today

THE FUTURE.

If only we could see what lies ahead,
If we might look beyond tomorrow's portals,
I wonder if we should, absolved from dread,

Be happy-visaged and contented mortals?
Would all the hate and heartaches disappear,
Would glee blot out all memories of sorrow—

Would courage come to take the place of fear,
If we could see what lies beyond tomorrow?

If we could know what destinies the fates
Are shaping now for us who blindly blunder
And oft in vain assail forbidden gates

How would the knowledge profit us, I wonder?
Would failure cease to break the hearts of men?
Would night's deep, silent darkness lose its terror?

Would he who ought to write lay down the pen?
Would all who stumble cease to grope in error?

We know that right is right, that wrong is wrong;
That thus it was ordained at time's beginning.

We know that honors to the wise belong,
That sorrow is the heavy price of sinning.

Yet foolishly we sin and venture where
The currents, soon or late, will drag us under;

If somehow all the future were laid bare
How would the knowledge profit us I wonder?
—Ellen Wilson in American Agriculturist.

BECKER IS NOT OUT OF WOODS

New York, Feb. 26.—District Attorney Whitman will retry Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal if it is in his power to bring that about. Furthermore, Mr. Whitman himself may be an important witness at the second trial.

The decision whether the former police lieutenant will face a jury for the second time does not rest with the chief prosecuting officer of the county, but with the judge or the justice before whom he moves the case for trial. So far as he is concerned, the district attorney believes that the decision of the court of appeals has left him with the vital parts of the case uninjured. Certain witnesses have been eliminated and certain testimony will not be heard again, but the foundation is still intact.

CHARGES MONEY DEFEATED BRYAN

Washington, Feb. 26.—Before the Common Council club here Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt declared that the defeat of Mr. Bryan in 1896 was made possible only by the flood of money which poured into the coffers of the Republican party. Such occurrences, Mr. Roosevelt said, were proof that the ballot box has sometimes failed to give the true expression for which it was intended.

"Any man who is active in political life today," declared Mr. Roosevelt, "no matter what his party, if he is candid, must admit to himself that abuses still exist and will continue to exist unless the problem is brought forth before the eye of the people and a demand is made by the leaders themselves that an end be put to practices that are not and can never be compatible with the good government of the country."

HUFF TO EXPLAIN TO COURTMARTIAL

Washington, Feb. 26.—Trial by courtmartial of Lieutenant Commander Charles P. Huff, attached to the new battleship Texas, has been ordered on charges of "scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals." The charges grew out of Commander Huff's alleged assault on a civilian, J. Phillip Kiesecker, at a hotel at Newport News. The court will sit at Norfolk.

Titles to Land.

On what basis can I claim exclusive right to a part of the limited surface of the earth? "No man made the land," said Mill. "It is the original inheritance of the whole species." No matter how far we delve into the past, we can find no just title to the private ownership of land. Blackstone admits that "there is no foundation in nature or in natural law why a set of words upon parchment should convey the dominion of land." "Whilst another man has no land," says Emerson, "my title to mine, your title to yours, is at once vitiated." And Herbert Spencer maintains that the titles all rest on force, fraud or cunning. When Edward I. sent his commission to inquire into the existing judicial franchises in 1278 Earl Warren flung a rusty sword on the table and cried: "This, sirs, is my warrant. By the sword our fathers won their lands when they came over with the conqueror, and by the sword we will keep them."—F. W. Garrison in Atlantic.

The Chain of Lakes.

North Missouri's famous hunting ground, known as the Chain of Lakes, having resisted all attempts to drain and cultivate, has been allowed to return to its natural state. The Chain of Lakes is wilderness surrounded by rich farming land, towns and good country roads. This section was the original happy hunting ground for the Indians of the west. On the banks of the Chariton river, at the edge of the lake territory, they pitched their wigwams, built a stone fort or dam and put up an ingenious fish trap, for there were no game wardens in those days. That trap, repaired and strengthened from time to time, was inherited by white men who followed the Indians and operated half a century. Then the game wardens, attracted by the ancient fish trap's fame, went over to the river and blew it up with dynamite.—Argonaut.

Reasonable Suspicion.

"I don't know what to think of my husband."
"Why?"

"He seems almost too good lately to be true. When I got him to help me rearrange some of the furniture yesterday he skinned his knuckles and didn't blame it on me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Superstitions of Sailors.

Sailors are full of superstitions. You cannot shake them. You would find it practically impossible to convince sailors that ill luck does not cling to a vessel whose name has been changed or that a craft whose name ends up in "a" does not rest under an evil spell. Persist and you will be asked about the Victoria, sunk in the Mediterranean; the Stella, lost off the Channel islands; the Arequipa, ashore on the west coast of America; the Cobra, a destroyer, which broke her back on her maiden voyage in the North sea, and the Samina, burnt in the harbor at Malta. Of course there are hundreds of vessels afloat which bear the unlucky final letter and in which it is safer to travel than on the railway, but the list of losses is a formidable one.

Then sometimes it is a member of the crew to whom a particularly evil influence is attached; sometimes it is a passenger. But if you want to see a sailorman shiver with superstition let there be some hitch in the solemn ceremony of launching. It nearly breaks the sailor boy's heart.—London Tit-Bits.

London Shops and Clerks.

In the stores in London the clerks first attracted my attention, but I may say the stores and shops themselves, after New York, seemed small and old. New York is so new. The space given to the more important shops is so considerable. In London it struck me that the space was not much and that the woodwork and walls were dingy. One can tell by the feel of a place whether it is exceptional and profitable, and all of these were that, but they were dingy. The English clerk, too, had an air of civility—I had almost said servility—which was different. They looked to me like individuals born to a condition and a point of view, and I think they are. In America any clerk may subsequently be anything he chooses (ability guaranteed), but I'm not so sure that this is true in England. Anyhow, the American clerk always looks his possibilities—his problematic future. The English clerk looks as if he were to be one indefinitely.—Theodore Dreiser's "A Traveler at Forty."

Phantom Hounds.

Conan Doyle's "Hound of the Baskervilles," a "fearsome animal," is said to have its origin in the legends of packs of spectral hounds which are popular in various parts of England and Wales. In the north of England these apparitions are known as "Gabriel's hounds," in Devon the "Wisk," "Yest" or "Heath hounds," in Wales "Cron Annwn" or "Cwn Wybir" and in Cornwall the "Devil's Dandy dogs." They are supposed to be evil spirits hunting the souls of the dead. Generally they are only heard and seem to be passing swiftly along in the air, as they usually choose cloudy nights for the pursuit of their prey. Their yelping is said to be terrific, resembling the note of a bloodhound. All of which tends to show that the origin of these legends of goblin hounds is to be found in the terrifying noises made by flocks of wild geese.

An Arabian Feast.

In a description of an Arab feast in honor of a visiting dignitary the North African News gives the following as the "main features" of the meal, which is spoken of as having been "a regal repast":

"A sheep roasted whole and filled with pistachio nuts; the national 'couscous,' the dish both of rich and poor, served up with roast chicken and ornamented with a wreath of hard boiled eggs cut in slices. Then 'chikouka,' composed of capscums, tomatoes and eggs beaten up with oil and lemon juice; cakes spread with butter and honey; artichokes dressed like Spanish onions, but prepared with the pistils of bean flowers; cakes of semolina, kneaded with dates, and pastry of various kinds seasoned with sugar and the essence of rose and jasmine."

Value of the Echo.

In one region not far from Detroit there is an echo which makes loud tones heard so clearly that persons living on either side of the depression where the echo works have learned to subdue their voices so that the echo may not be aroused—and so that not every one within a quarter mile may hear all they may say. This makes for quietness and peace in the neighborhood. This in turn affects the dispositions of the persons affected; and thus, you see, the echo becomes a blessing for which many a family and many a neighborhood would gladly and liberally pay.—Exchange.

European Monkeys.

One of the rarest of living creatures is undoubtedly a European monkey. The only place on the continent where these animals may be found is on the rock of Gibraltar. They are of the type known as Barbary apes and are about the size of a terrier dog. A most noticeable feature is that they do not possess tails. Only about twenty of the apes exist, and only by unceasing protection and artificial feeding is the species preserved. Many theories are advanced as to how these apes first came to Gibraltar. A popular idea is that a subterranean passage exists between the rock and the adjacent coast of Africa, and that the monkeys pass to and fro, but the more matter of fact theory that they were originally imported by some local inhabitant is probably correct.—London Answers.

His Foot in His Mouth.

Another one of the things a fellow says as a compliment and then realizes that it isn't, is this—reported by a post-card helper:

"I was so grateful for your thoughtfulness in writing me about my poor husband's terrible accident!" exclaimed the pretty widow.

"Not at all, not at all," stammered the family friend. "I was only too glad to have the opportunity!"—Exchange.

Cricket.

Cricket seems always to have been played in Britain. The first mention of it is found in a manuscript of the thirteenth century. The name comes from the Saxon "cric" or "cryc," a crooked stick, an obvious reference to the bat with which it is played.

Guatemala.

Guatemala is about as large as Louisiana. The planters are the most influential element, and they sell their products for gold and pay their labor in depreciated currency.

MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO STEALING A FAT PORKER

Charles Ferguson Arrested on Charge of Selling Fat Hog Belonging to Well Known Farmer and Will Probably Spend Sometime in the Xenia Workhouse.

Charles Ferguson, a laborer, who has been making his home with a family named McCann, in the eastern part of this city, was arrested by Chief Moore, late Wednesday afternoon, upon a charge of stealing a hog from the Carey Persinger farm, and disposing of the animal to a Saling butcher.

The fellow was lodged in the county jail, and his hearing set for Thursday, when he appeared and pleaded guilty to the charge.

The hog in question was stolen some two weeks ago, and since that time the police have been on the watch for a man under suspicion. Wednesday Mr. Persinger appeared and filed an affidavit in which he charged Chas. Ferguson with stealing the porker in question.

The hog, it was learned, had been sold at the George Manneizer meat market in Sabina, for the sum of $22 and Ferguson was the man suspected of having sold the animal.

It is claimed that the man appeared at the Manneizer butcher shop soon after daylight on the morning following the night in which the animal disappeared.

The fellow had resided upon the Persinger farm for a short time, but later moved to this city, and since then has resided here.

When arrested the police found an ugly "slung-shot" upon him, and it is claimed that a charge of carrying concealed weapons will also be lodged against him.

The witnesses subpoenaed in the case were: Bert Monroe, Earl Johnson, S. O. Clyborn and George Manneizer.

At the hearing the man first denied his guilt, but later changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty. The witnesses identified him as the man who had presented the stolen hog. To the weighmaster, one of the witnesses, he had given the name of Tom Johnson.

The man refused to enter a plea of guilty until on his way back to the jail when he informed Patrolman Baughn that he would plead guilty, and did so.

Mayor Coffey later gave him $1.00 and the costs and 90 days in the Xenia workhouse, and he will be taken to the workhouse at once if he fails to pay.

PECULIAR CASE REACHES HIGH COURT

The case of A. R. Creamer, executor, plaintiff in error, against Sarah Harris, defendant in error, was argued in the Supreme court, Wednesday by Attorney D. L. Thompson, who represented Mr. Creamer, and Attorney Harry M. Rankin, who represents the defendant in error. Decision will be made by the court within a short time.

The case is that in which Mattie Weaver died, leaving a will in which an old bureau, worth only a few cents in itself, was left to Sarah Harris, together with the contents of the bureau, and other articles.

In a drawer of the bureau was found $321.60 in cash, which the executor claimed should not be regarded as the property of Sarah Harris, but the property of other heirs.

In both the Common Pleas court and the Court of Appeals the decision was in favor of Sarah Harris.

MANY FROM THIS CITY IN COLUMBUS

Some 45 to 50 persons from this city attended the "get together" meeting in Columbus, Thursday, most of them leaving here on the 10:30 train, which was late and placed them in Columbus some time after the noon hour.

Virtually all of those who left were Republicans, it is claimed.

RURAL CARRIERS PROPOSED SHIRT FACTORY AGAIN TURN BACK ON POINT OF EXPLODING

Most of the rural mail carriers of the county again were forced to turn about and return to the office with some of their mail undelivered, Wednesday.

The work of opening the roads has been very slow, and in some communities the organized effort is reported weak, with the result that some of the roads remained impassable Wednesday, and will probably not be reached yet today.

As the law does not require the carriers to attempt to deliver mail where the roads are in bad condition, the men have been within their rights in turning back, and when patrons of the various routes make it possible for mail delivery, then every patron will receive his mail.

Great drifts, the like of which were never known here, are reported on all roads, and in some instances the drifts have been nearly as high as the top of a buggy, so that when a way is shoveled through, the top of a passing rig is all that is visible.

The railroads are resuming normal conditions. The C. H. & D. was the worst affected, and it required some hard work to clear the tracks.

The Bloomingburg and Midway pike is open again after being closed since Monday. For miles the road was impassable, and gangs of men with teams and shovels worked incessantly on the road.

ADAMS RESIDENCE SELLS YESTERDAY

Mr. George Adams, traveling salesman, who resides in what was formerly the Welton homestead on Hinde street, Wednesday disposed of his property to Mrs. J. W. Kimball, who will move to the property in the near future.

Mr. Adams and family will later move to St. Louis to make their future home.

The new owner of the property at present resides five miles north of this city on the Prairie pike.

Peculiar Happenings in Connection With Scheme of H. A. Stuart, Expected to Bring Project to a Climax Within Next 24 Hours—Claims Credit Man Is Now on Way Here—Left Hotel Bill in Dayton and Borrowed Money Enough to Reach Washington, Is Latest Information.

Developments in connection with the proposed shirt factory in this city indicate that there is now considerable doubt as to whether the factory will be located here, but the next 48 hours is expected to bring some decidedly interesting developments, either making the factory a certainty, or exploding the entire scheme of locating the factory here.

At the present time considerable doubt exists as to whether or not H. A. Stuart is empowered to act for any company. He states unhesitatingly that he will prove that his proposal is "on the square."

Stuart came to Washington Wednesday of last week, and soon announced his intention of locating a factory here. He was accompanied to this city by M. C. Hart, proprietor of the Manhattan hotel, Dayton, Hart introduced him to local parties, and returned to Dayton.

He announced that virtually everything had been closed up for the building occupied by the Ballard-Ford Hardware Company. He was awaiting the arrival of another member of the company before finally closing the deal. He represented himself as having plenty of money.

Late developments indicate that he has little money available. Investigation has disclosed that there is no "Troy Shirt Company". M. C. Hart of Dayton now claims that Stuart owes a $10 hotel bill there, and that Stuart borrowed $5 from him with which to come to this city. Stuart claimed that he had a check for $250 which he had received a day or two ago. He could not pay his hotel bill when it was presented to him by the management of the Cherry hotel, although one man insists that he saw a check on a Dayton bank, and that it called for $250.

A telegram sent to the mayor of Troy, from the Cherry hotel, Wednesday night, asking information concerning Stuart, has so far failed to bring a reply.

At the mayor's office Thursday afternoon Stuart proclaimed his intention of carrying out plans announced and said G. H. Craig, the credit man of the firm, whom he has been expecting for several days, had called him from Dayton Thursday morning, stating that he would come to this city at once, by way of Cincinnati and up on the B. & O.

"I represent one of the biggest firms in the business, and will tell you everything as soon as Mr. Craig arrives and we close up matters here," he said.

Stuart also stated that there was a strong effort being made to prevent his locating a factory here for obvious reason.

NEW PROPOSALS AND GOOD REPORTS

Quite a number of the Y. M. C. A. campaign workers were out of the city today, but reports turned in showed a considerable gain over those of Wednesday.

Two new propositions were also received, and they, together with the one made Wednesday, are expected to take tangible form within a day or two.

Those engaged in the work are becoming more active each day, and the reports are encouraging.

posals than they have about conducting the business of the state in an economical and efficient manner," he said.

State Auditor Donahey's annual report was quoted by Mr. Massie to show "unbusiness-like procedure" and "great loss to the state."

"According to estimates for the future, the outlook is even worse," he said, referring to expenses of administration.

"We have no right to imperil the liberties of the people of Ohio by continuing a factional quarrel in the presence of a common enemy," said Mr. Massie. "The platform on which we would be able to get together can be framed in a very few words: An efficient and business administration for Ohio, inspired with the sole idea of serving the state and its people."

Senator Borah in his address specified legislation passed under national Republican administrations and to prove that the party is progressive, but admitted "there was fault to be found with the organization." This had been remedied now by a new method of electing delegates to national conventions, he said.

Canadian farmers are competing seriously with those of the United States, he charged, but prices of finished food products have not diminished. The worst result of this is that it will tend to make people flock to the cities, in his belief.

"The evil of monopoly is ten times worse than black slavery," Senator Borah said. He declared the Progressive party's policy of regulating monopolies would be merely an evasion of the problem.

"Sons of these days, because the people will rise in their might, all political parties will take up this proposition of monopoly and declare in terms unmistakably that a monopoly and a republic can not exist under the same flag. They will declare that we shall put the men in jail who organize a monopoly, or practice monopoly, as quickly as the men who organize a combination of thieves and take our property in another way."

COUNTY W. C. T. U. EXECUTIVE SESSION

The County W. C. T. U. met in executive session at the Cherry hotel Thursday to discuss matters of vital importance in connection with the platform of the organization.

Wintry blasts and snow blocked roads had no terrors for the sterling W. C. T. U. women who compose the executive board and act in the capacity of superintendents and there was a good representation assembled in the hotel parlors by the middle of the morning.

The meeting was called to formulate plans by which the county organization will work in conjunction with plans laid down by the national organization for the success of national prohibition and woman's suffrage at the polls next November.

The two big purposes of the national W. C. T. U. are directed towards national prohibition and woman's suffrage and all over our land every union, whether city or county, is co-operating along national lines.

In attendance at the executive session were the county officers, Mrs. Alice Taggart, Jeffersonville, president; Miss Icy Allen, Jeffersonville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bruce Pine, Sugar Grove, recording secretary; Mrs. Carrie B. Willis, treasurer; vice presidents, Mrs. Elva Post, Sugar Grove, Mrs. Chas. Stafford, Washington C. H., Mrs. Kate Crowe, Cooks, Mrs. Hallie King, Madison Mills; local president, Staunton, Mrs. Luther Brakefield; vice president, Bloomingburg, Mrs. Lulu Sholey; county superintendents, Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, Christian citizenship; Mrs. J. C. Greiner, franchise; Mrs. Frank E. Haines, flower mission; Mrs. Amanda Post, anti narcotics; S. T. I., Mrs. Stafford; contest, Mrs. Hallie King; S. S. work, Miss Stella Watson; fair work, Miss Della Templin.

At noon the women enjoyed one of the Cherry's excellent dinners, with social pleasure mingled with the deeper purposes of the gathering.

In Social Circles

The Young Matrons' Bridge club found their fortnightly meeting with Mrs. R. O. Young of more than ordinary pleasure this afternoon from the opportunity it gave of renewing friendships with Mrs. D. H. Jones (nee Ray Young, of Evanston, Ill.) and Mrs. C. Graham Beckel (nee Helen Willis), of Dayton, who are visiting here.

The hostess entertained an additional table of guests in their honor and the affair was marked by charming appointments, and of unusual sociability from the fact that Mrs. Jones did not engage in the game and the guests digressed from its attractions to enjoy visiting with her.

The wedding of Miss Ida Belle Tway, daughter of Mrs. Mary C. Tway, to Mr. Eben Thomas, which was solemnized at half past two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, was an event of much interest in the Yatesville neighborhood and also in this city, where the bride has a number of relatives.

The wedding ceremony was to have been at noon, but the roads above Bloomingburg were so impassable that it was postponed in the hope that guests from a distance would be able to reach the home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tway and daughter, Miss Elsie, were the only guests from this vicinity who made their way through the snow blocked roads.

It was a very pretty home wedding with a pink and white color scheme carried out in roses, carnations and greenery.

The young couple plighted their troth under an arch of green, banked by potted plants on either side.

Rev. Haas, of the M. E. church, of Bloomingburg, performed the ceremony and Miss Elsa Tway played the wedding march.

The bride was wearing a beautiful gown of white satin, draped in chiffon, with garniture of shadow lace and pearl beads and carried bride's roses. She was a very sweet lovable girl and a favorite with all who knew her.

After congratulations a course dinner was served to forty guests, the bridal table artistically decorated with carnations and garlands of green.

Many handsome wedding gifts were in evidence.

Mr. Thomas, whose home is in Columbus, has been engaged in farming with his uncle, Mr. John Peters, near Yatesville, but will take his bride to the J. D. Rogers' farm near Madison Mills, which he will operate the coming year.

Both young people have the best wishes of many friends.

An elaborate four-course birthday dinner was given by Mrs. John Evans at her home on South Main St. Wednesday, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Mary Briggs.

Azaleas and greenery were artistically employed in table decoration and the dinner hour greatly enjoyed. The guests were: Mrs. Ada Turnipseed, of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Briggs and daughter, Mary Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hettessheimer, Dr. and Mrs. V. P. Smith and Miss Bell DeWitt.

Mr. Harry Rankin spent the past two days in Columbus arguing the case of Sarah Harris viz, the Administrator in the Supreme court. Mrs. Rankin accompanied him.

Capt. John Maynard, of Lima, was guest of his mother, Mrs. K. C. Maynard Wednesday night, enroute from Cincinnati to Columbus to attend the Republican meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Kinneer, of Columbus, will be the guests of Mr. N. S. Barnett and family for the week end.

Mrs. Theresa Hainey, of Clinton, Ky., is spending a couple of days with Washington friends.

Mr. Henry Ward has moved his family from the Combs property on Market street to the Judy property on Lakeside avenue, Millwood.

Miss Ivah Haines, who was the guest of Miss Katharine Mark, at Selden, over Sunday, was snow-bound and unable to reach her home on the Creek road until Wednesday.

Mr. D. L. Thompson made a business trip to Columbus yesterday.

Mr. Chas. Bell was a business visitor at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. J. W. Rothrock, yesterday.

Mr. Wm. Hettessheimer is attending the Auto show in Cincinnati.

Mr. Homer Hutson and Mr. and Mrs. Eben Thomas, a bride and groom of yesterday, drove down from Yatesville today. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas went on to Columbus to visit Mr. Thomas' parents, the storm preventing them from attending the wedding.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cheney, of Columbus, received cards today announcing the birth of a son to them, February 25th.

Arta Cook, of the White pike, a senior in the piano department of Stinson Conservatory, is staying with Mrs. Ed Boswell during the severe weather.

SESSLER-RAYBURN.

Mr. Elmer Sessler, son of Mrs. John VanGundy, and Miss Elma Rayburn, the attractive daughter of Mr. Chas. Rayburn, on Dayton avenue, were married by Rev. Hostetler, at the Christian church Wednesday afternoon, at three o'clock.

They will go at once to housekeeping in Millwood.

Both young people have many friends who wish them happiness.

Two Illinois inventors have patented a trap which attracts insects within it by a lighted lamp so that they come into contact with electrically charged wires and are killed.

LARGE NUMBER ATTEND FUNERAL

The funeral of Mr. Anell B. Creamer, conducted by Rev. E. W. Price, in the M. P. church at Jeffersonville Wednesday morning, was very largely attended, towns and country throughout a wide radius represented as much as was possible under the untoward weather conditions.

Many of the roads were not opened and prevented friends from reaching Jeffersonville. Two cabs from here were snow bound seven miles up the Jeffersonville pike and compelled to return to Washington.

The large assemblage was one gathered to offer most sincere tribute of esteem to the dead and overflowing sympathy to the living. The deceased was a man worthy of all that could be said in appreciative memoir and taken in the prime of life, leaving a young wife and three small children, father, mother and brother, who are heart broken over his untimely death, sympathy was aroused to an unusual degree.

A wealth of flowers surrounded the bier of the quiet sleeper and the choir rendered favorite hymns.

Acting as pall bearers were four cousins, Messrs. C. U. Armstrong and F. B. Creamer, of this city, J. B. Armstrong, Al. Armstrong, Jeffersonville; Holland Orcutt and Will Trehearne, London.

MRS. A. W. WEST UNDERGOES OPERATION

Late Wednesday afternoon Mrs. A. W. West, wife of Rev. West, pastor of the First Baptist church, was rushed to the Fayette hospital to undergo an operation for peritonitis.

Mrs. West has been in a semi-invalid condition for some time and quite ill during the past few days. With indomitable pluck she has engaged, as far as possible in the duties of home and church and her critical condition has not been generally realized. The news of her grave illness distressed a host of friends, by no means confined to the circles of Rev. West's parish, and it is indeed welcome news to learn this morning that she came through the operation nicely and physicians give most encouraging reports.

FORMER POSTMASTER DIES IN PITTSBURG

Mr. J. F. Sheets, formerly postmaster at Bloomingburg, and one of the highly respected citizens of that town, died Thursday morning, at the home of his son, Ima, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was 75 years of age.

Mr. Sheets left Bloomingburg about two years ago to make his home with his son.

The remains will be brought to Bloomingburg Saturday afternoon and taken to the home of Mr. L. D. Minnick. Funeral will be held Sunday at 1 p. m., in the Presbyterian church, of Bloomingburg.

Garfield Commandery of this city, will have charge of the services.

The interment will be made in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

DODDS PAYS VISIT TO ASSESSOR DUNN

Tax Superintendent Dodds, of the State Tax Commissioner's office, was in this city Wednesday and spent some little time with District Assessor J. C. Dunn, finding that the work in this county is progressing very nicely, and that Mr. Dunn is conducting the office according to the provisions of the law.

Mr. Dodds reports a great increase in property valuations, due in most part to unearthing hidden property. The increase is being brought to light all over the country, and is said to be due to the present system of selecting assessors instead of electing them in their respective taxing districts.

WILL MAKE ADDRESS AT VIRGINIA HOTEL

Hon. Humphrey Jones will address the Franklin County Bar Association at its noon Luncheon Saturday, in the Rose room of the Virginia hotel, in Columbus.

Mr. Jones will speak on the subject of "Registration of Land Titles", and is thoroughly familiar with the subject being the author of the constitutional amendment providing for the registration of land titles, and later author of the law itself.

Probably no other man in Ohio is so well qualified for speaking upon the subject as Mr. Jones.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL ENTERING NEW FIELDS

The Washington High School is opening new fields of interest and benefit.

This week the field of Art is entered in the Elson Art Exhibit, drawing many visitors to the High School building.

Next week will witness the initiation of a High School Lecture Course with Mr. Edmond Vance Cook, entertainer. Owing to the lateness of the season, there will be few lecturers this year, but next year a full course under the auspices of the High School.

Poems of Mr. Cook's will largely supply the Herald poem column this week.

SPEAKS AFTER PAIR OF DEER

General John C. Speaks, Fish and Game Commissioner, has written to the Park Commission at Chillicothe, asking them for their permission to capture the two deer which have been running at large in the state since the flood last March.

It is the intention of General Speaks to place the deer in some game preserve in the state for the purpose of heading a herd of deer.

The Park Commission has not held a meeting, but will probably turn their somewhat questionable title to the deer, over to General Speaks, who will then endeavor to capture the animals.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS. TOMORROW

The civil service examination for policemen and firemen, which will be held at the mayor's office Friday afternoon under the jurisdiction of the Municipal Civil Service Commissioners, Dr. Roy Brown, Dr. C. E. Page and Horace Ireland, is apparently attracting very little attention, and so far only a few persons in addition to the present employees have applied for the test.

Under the new law it is necessary for employees to pass a civil service test if they are to be under civil service. And as all appointments are made under civil service, it is necessary to have eligibles for the various offices.

MRS. L. B. JONES DIES AT MARION

Many Washington friends will learn with much regret of the death of Mrs. L. B. Jones, formerly of this city, at her home in Marion Wednesday. No particulars in regard to her death have been learned.

Mrs. Jones is survived by her husband, son Ben, and daughter, Merle. Misses Nellie Fogle and Margaret DeWees left Thursday morning for Marion to attend the funeral, which will be held Thursday evening.

The remains will be taken to Mt. Gilead for burial.

NOTABLE OCCASION LOCAL MASONS

Fayette Lodge, F. & A. M., held its annual inspection and banquet Wednesday night, with over a hundred Masons from this city and nearby towns present.

It was a notable occasion especially in that for the first time in two years the Masons were able to hold their inspection in their own splendid Temple. While there are yet finishing touches to be given to the club rooms and hall, the Mason's home has now reached a state of completion and attractiveness which is a source of added fraternal pride when past vicissitudes are recalled.

Past Master J. Chartres, of Xenia lodge, representing the Grand lodge of Ohio, acted as inspecting officer and bestowed unqualified praise upon the evening's work. Worshipful Master Ernest Ellis gave the lecture, turning over the charge of the work of Mr. Ray Post. Mr. George Chaney was the candidate. Dr. L. P. Howell sang a solo with violin obligato by

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than in any other. It is often mistaken for a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

DEATHS

CARMEAN.

Mrs. Nancy Carmean, aged 77 years, wife of Joseph Carmean, died Wednesday evening at 8:30 at the residence in Bloomingburg. Mrs. Carmean has been a resident of Bloomingburg for the past fifteen years. She leaves her husband and three daughters, Mrs. Jennie Freeman, Bloomingburg; Mrs. Annie Shore, from the northern part of the state, and Mrs. Elizabeth Doobey, of Michigan.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10:00 a. m. at the M. E. church in Bloomingburg. Interment in Bloomingburg cemetery.

HOLLY.

The remains of Ed Holly who died in Springfield, will be brought here Friday morning at 9:50 on the D. T. & I. and taken to the 2nd Baptist church where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Washington cemetery.

A Mammoth Molar.

When the real estate man came into the Curstone club headquarters he proudly displayed a tooth which he said had just been pulled by a dentist. "Doc said it's one of the biggest he ever saw," he exclaimed.

The ancient carpenter, who is known as the club Ananias, inspected the molar with an apparent lack of interest.

"It's nothing compared with one I had pulled once," he finally observed. "Get out!" ejaculated the real estate man. "You don't mean to tell me you had a bigger tooth than that?"

"Sure I do," the carpenter declared. "When I showed it to my boss the next day he thought it was a milk stool."—Youngstown Telegram.

DEMAND FEDERAL PRICE FIXING ACT

Business Men Claim It Would Stimulate Competition.

METZ BILL APPEARS IN HOUSE

Designed to Prevent Discrimination Between Different Consumers and Localities by Establishing Uniform Prices For Uniform Commodities. Parcel Post Service Under Fire in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 26. — A bill designed to prevent discrimination "between different consumers and localities by establishing uniform prices for uniform commodities" was introduced by Representative Metz of New York. The principle of the bill has been endorsed by a number of manufacturers and jobbers before the house committees having the administration anti-trust measures under consideration. In fact some business men are demanding the passage of a federal price-fixing law. The Metz bill sets forth that it is desirable that consumers shall be able to purchase uniform commodities in all localities at uniform prices. It further declares that "uneven prices tend to effect discrimination between consumers and localities and destroys competition." Mr. Metz further contends that "uniform prices facilitate the wide and steady distribution of uniform commodities and tend to lower the price to the consumer by lowering the cost of production and distribution."

The bill defines the terms "proprietors," "dealers," "jobbers" and other persons or corporations that are required under the law to file price lists with the bureau of corporations, and provides that all persons or firms concerned shall establish uniform retail selling prices, after making due allowance for the actual cost of transportation from the point of production to the point of retail sale and consumption. The price lists thus made are to be fixed at the bureau of corporations 30 days in advance of the date when they are to become effective. Any person or firm that violates the prices enumerated in the list so filed shall be liable to action for damages.

Attacks Parcel Post.

Senator Bristow of Kansas made an attack in the senate on the administration of the parcel post law. "If the bill had been actually drawn by the big mail order houses," said the senator from Kansas, "it could not have more nearly met the requirements of these concerns. As administered, they enjoy remarkable favors in the way of transportation."

Senator Bristow was speaking in support of an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, which provides that the postmaster general shall not change the zone arrangement for parcel post delivery in the future without authority from congress. The senator pointed out disparities under the system of administering the law between the cost of transporting parcels of the same weight for longer and shorter hauls.

Senators Norris and Poindexter pointed out that inequalities of this kind were a necessary incident of any parcel post system based on the zone method for fixing charges. Mr. Bristow admitted this, but declared that the postmaster general had emphasized the disparities by rearranging the zones, and that his authority in such matter should be restricted.

England's Oddest Island.

There is an English parish, only forty-eight miles from London, where roads, shops, lamps, telephones, motorcars and postoffices are unknown. It is Elmley, and it is an island, says the Boston Transcript. The island has an area of 2,000 acres and is the property of Oxford university.

Some time ago the island was the home of thirty-five men, women and children. The inhabitants are mostly "lookers" or shepherds of large flocks of sheep. The oldest man of the village is in his seventeenth year. He has never seen a motorcar.

The school and church are the two chief landmarks on the island. The reason they were built in such a sparsely populated spot is that in winter it is almost impossible to leave the island. The mud is literally knee deep, and the ferry that runs to and from the island is dangerous. A novel method of obtaining the services of the ferryman, who lives opposite the island, is by opening the white door of a hut facing the shore. The ferryman on the lookout know that the open door is a signal for the ferry. At night a lighted candle held aloft serves the purpose of the open door.

Rented Wedding Cake.

There was something wrong with the cake, the baker said. It looked all right, and it smelled all right, but his artistic sense told him it would not taste all right.

"Then fix it up with an extra coat of icing, and we will keep it for a renter," said the proprietor.

"Who in the world would rent a cake?" some one asked.

"Wedding parties," said he. "They want a big cake in the center of the table for show, but a cake of that size good enough for a wedding would cost more than they can afford to pay, so they order fine cake put up in individual boxes for the guests and use the bride's cake just as an ornament. They don't buy it, they just rent it. Sometimes a cake is rented a dozen different times. After each wedding it is freshened up with a new coat of icing and looks as good as new for the next occasion. A good renter fetches about $3 a wedding." — Washington Star.

Mixed Bathing.

Mixed bathing was a question that caused trouble under the Roman empire. It came in with the collapse of austere republican manners, and the Emperors Hadrian and Marcus Aurelius found it necessary to issue orders against it. Alexander Severus also forbade the opening of "balnea mixta" in Rome. Later on we find great diversity of view in Europe on the matter. In the fifteenth century Bohemian and Spanish travelers were astonished at the goings on at Bruges, Malines and Brussels. The Spaniard observes that "the bathing together of men and women, skin bare, is here reckoned as innocent as is, with us, a visit to church." The public baths at the Swiss Baden, where only a railing separated the sexes, scandalized Poggio Bracciolini.

PUZZLING IT OUT.

—Gage in Philadelphia Press.

One Way to Advertise.

That sentiment can be used with good effect in an advertisement the Germans evidently believe; otherwise it is difficult to account for the following letter which recently appeared among the business notices in a German paper:

"My Dear Charlotte—My heart is almost broken because your father has forbidden me to call on you, and I know the only reason is because I am not wealthy. I cannot, however, live without you, and so we must meet somewhere.

"Meet me tomorrow morning about 10 o'clock at — in — street—I mean that large store where they sell men's clothing. You know it's such a popular place that it's always crowded and therefore no one will be able to spy on us. Besides I intend to buy an overcoat and I'd like to have your advice. In this store they have clothes of all colors and styles, so that I could never make up my mind if I were alone. Now, remember, my darling, I'll expect you at 10 o'clock, and I hope you won't disappoint me."

Must Restrain His Grief.

A peculiarity of bridegrooms was pointed out by the curate, who asked asthmatically for a medical certificate showing that he had a cold in the head.

"But that is self evident," said the doctor. "You don't need a doctor's word for that. You are all choked up, and your eyes are watery."

"It is those very symptoms that make a certificate necessary to placate the bridegroom," said the curate. "Without that he will think I am crying and will take my tears as a personal insult. Copious weeping is the privilege of everybody at a wedding except the parson."

"Bridesmaids may snifle, mothers sob and brides and bridegroom falter, but the man who ties the knot must remain dry eyed and clear voiced."

Emotion on his part is construed as grief over the bride's bad bargain, and the best natured bridegroom on earth resents it." — Chicago Inter Ocean.

Men and Cigars.

"Certainly I will make a few remarks," said the cigar salesman who, because of his solemn garb, had been mistaken for a man of the cloth. Ascending the platform, he said:

"Men are like cigars. Often you cannot tell by the wrapper what the filler is. Sometimes a good old stogie is more popular than an important celebrity. Some men are all right in the showcase, on display, but are great disappointments when you get them home. No matter how fine a man is, eventually he meets his match. A two-for often puts on as many airs as a fifty-center. Some men never get to the front at all except during campaigns. Some are very fancy outside and are selected for presents. Others have a rough exterior, but spread cheer and comfort about them because of what is inside. But all men, as all cigars, good or bad, two-fers, stogies, rich or poor, come to ashes at last." — San Francisco Star.

A Careful Talesman.

The district attorney in Chicago was somewhat taken aback one day by the answer he received from a prospective juror whom he was examining. The talesman was the owner of a garage.

"Do you know me or any of the lawyers in this case?" the attorney asked.

"No," replied the talesman.

"You don't know me or Judge Blank or Mr. Jones or Mr. Smith here?"

"No."

"None of us store machines at your garage?"

"Well, sir," said the talesman, "all I can answer is that none of you do it under the names you have given in court this morning." — Lippincott's.

COMMON SENSE NECESSARY IN HEALTH MOVES

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 25.—Common sense in public health administration was emphasized by Assistant Surgeon General W. C. Rucker, of the Federal Public Health Service, here tonight in an address before the Chicago Medical Society.

"It is entirely proper that we insist upon abolishing the common drinking cup," said he, "but when we insist that cups furnished to the general public shall be sterilized, the question assumes a phase as farcical and ridiculous as would be the individual door-knob. Already a good many common sense laymen are offering the criticism that we are carrying public health measures to an unnecessary fine point of perfection. While this contention is not granted, it must be admitted that some of the recommendations by untrained enthusiasts bear a close resemblance to the Royal Society's recommendations with regard to bathing. These, reduced to their lowest terms are 'Do not bathe.'

"Common sense in public health administration comprehends the employment of well trained health officers at adequate salaries, sufficient funds to administer the laws and specific legislation having as its foundation the basis of fact and practicality. Fact, not theory, must be the basis of our action. Disease is not a ghost but a reality. The common sense application of knowledge alone will control it. The sanitary millennium will never come, but research and common sense administration will bring it nearer."

Dr. Rucker compared the practices of trained and untrained sanitarians. The untrained health officer, he said, establishes a shot-gun quarantine, burns tar barrels in the streets and washes down houses with bichloride of mercury for a yellow fever outbreak. The trained sanitarian merely destroys the mosquitoes.

The American people, he said, were awakening to a wholly needless sacrifice to preventable disease, and there was great danger that the public health movement might be attended by fads and fanaticism. Two general sets of faults in the sanitary laws of the country, he said, were a scattering of ideas and loading down the health officer with more power than he could possibly use. Common sense enforcement of sanitary laws, he declared, meant the maximum of protection with the minimum interference to trade.

Ate Only Raw Eggs Until Mayr Remedy Restored Her Stomach

S. D. Martin and Friend Are Both Saved by Using Wonderful Treatment.

S. D. Martin of Elkton, O., suffered with stomach troubles and difficulties in his digestive tract. He lost weight and his appetite was bad.

He took one dose of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and was cured. After one dose, five months later he sent an order for more.

"Since taking your sample I have not been bothered any to speak of with my stomach. Before I had bad headaches and dizzy spells, of which I am almost free. I have gained fifteen pounds since taking the one dose. It is not that I need the medicine now that I am sending. I am simply going to take it as a preventive. My wife induced a lady friend to try it. She had been eating only raw egg or cracker, or two, and often could not keep them down. This lady used your remedy and is almost cured her."

Letters like these come from the thousands of users of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy all over the United States. It is known everywhere. The first dose convinces—no long treatment.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from stomach, liver and bowel trouble. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure it has saved their lives.

Because of its remarkable success there are many imitations, so be careful. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Blackmer & Tanquary's drug store and ask them about the wonderful results it has accomplished in cases they know—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whitling St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you about its wonderful effects.

SIX INCHES OF SNOW IN DIXIE

General Snowstorm Blankets the Atlantic Seaboard.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 26.—The south and southwest shivered in the grip of a general snowstorm, which blanketed the Atlantic seaboard as far south as southern Georgia and reached to the gulf states. Weather bureau records for from eight to 20 years were broken. Falling temperatures accompanied the storm in many sections. The heaviest snowfall was reported in Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi, South and North Carolina. At Macon, Ga., the precipitation reached a depth of six inches, while an almost equal amount was reported at Augusta and Savannah. In Louisiana and Mississippi there was a snowfall of six inches. Thermometers at New Orleans, Mobile and other gulf points hovered above the freezing point and the snow melted as it fell.

STATE SCORES IN BUFFUM CASE

Salamanca, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Cynthia Buffum's confession made in the Touraine hotel, Buffalo, that she murdered her former husband by slow poisoning for the love of Ernest Frahm, a young farmer, was admitted to the evidence in the trial now being held at Little Valley before Justice Brown. The defense fought long and hard against its admission. The confession was a long document of 16 typewritten pages, signed on each page by Mrs. Buffum, and purporting to tell the story of why she murdered her husband. In the statement which she signed she claimed that she had been a victim of her husband's unjust accusations of infidelity with other men for nearly 20 years; that he beat her and knocked her down; that she sought solace in the company of Frahm and that he persuaded her to poison her husband with horse liniment containing arsenic. The defense hopes to prove Buffum poisoned herself.

DEMS AND MOOSERS ELECT TREASURER

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Homer D. Call of Syracuse was elected state treasurer at a joint session of the legislature, to succeed the late John J. Kennedy, who killed himself in Buffalo a week ago. Call was supported by a combine of Progressives and Democrats and received 98 votes to 96 for William Archer, Republican. Former Governor Sulzer voted for Call, thus preventing a tie vote. Mr. Call is vice president of the American Federation of Labor. He ran for secretary of state in 1912 on the Progressive and Independence League tickets.

SHARPE MAY GO TO RUSSIA

Washington, Feb. 26.—Senator Pomerene of Ohio expressed the opinion that Representative William G. Sharpe of Elyria, O., would be appointed ambassador to Russia. Mr. Sharpe is one of the wealthiest members of congress from Ohio, and is said to have amassed about $2,000,000 from the manufacturing business and is not averse to entering the diplomatic service. He has served as a member of the foreign relations committee of the house and was endorsed for ambassador to Russia by the foreign affairs committee and the entire Ohio delegation in congress. Senator Pomerene will confer with the president regarding the matter. Representative Sharpe made no formal application for the office and his name was taken up by his colleagues in the house without his knowledge.

PEACE TREATY STRIKES SNAG

Washington, Feb. 26.—Secretary of State Bryan's plan for a peace treaty of a sweeping character with Denmark struck a snag in the senate. As a result the pending treaty with Denmark for general arbitration of international questions probably will be modified to conform to the arbitration treaties that were ratified by the senate recently. The draft of the treaty with Denmark goes further than any of the other treaties and would make practically every question arising between the two countries subject to arbitration. Senator Lodge directed the attention of Secretary Bryan to the fact that under the pending treaty, if a question arose between the United States and Denmark over the sale of the Danish West Indian islands, St. Thomas and St. Croix, this question would be submitted to arbitration, although it involves the Monroe doctrine.

Jewels of London's Lord Mayor.

The gold chain and jeweled insignia of the lord mayor of London are among the most wonderful ornaments in the world, being composed of pure gold and adorned with an enormous number of diamonds. Their value has been estimated at not less than £120,000. Every lord mayor, before he is elected, is called upon to enter into a bond for their safe custody during his term of office, and before he resigns the insignia at the close of his mayoralty they are most carefully examined by special jewelers in order to see that during the year's wear its diamonds have not been loosened in their holdings and that his successor may wear them without anxiety. No wonder that when the lord mayor is wearing all the insignia of his proud position he is a special object of attention by a special police guard.—London Saturday Journal.

That Jar of MUSTEROLE On the Bath-Room Shelf

will clean it thoroughly, leave the hair soft, silky, glossy and full of vitality. Washing leaves the hair dry, hard, brittle, metallic and hard to manage. It takes half a day to do it right, and costs much labor to dry it properly and untangle the snarls caused by the scrubbing, towel-ing, rubbing and fanning.

Get illustrated circular and full particulars about this delightful preparation.

Scotch Sabbath Morality.

Even in Scotland up to the middle of the eighteenth century Sabbath morality was geographical. Sabbath, according to a contemporary writer, never "got aboon the pass o' Killiecrankie." For generations after the reformation the highlander on Sunday drove his cattle to market, brought home his fuel, baked his bread, fished, played shinty and put the stone. Sunday christenings and penny weddings were common, and the presbytery books merely sent warnings against piping, fiddling and dancing at them.

But in the lowlands the church took a sterner view. The assembly forbade shipbuilders and sailors to begin any voyage on the Lord's day or to "loose any ships, barks or boats." Aberdonians were fined if they failed to attend worship, the good man and good wife of the house contravening paid 6s. 8d. and "lik servant 2s. Scots," a sore burden to be borne in the seventeenth century. The record of absentees is scanty.—London Chronicle.

Switzerland and Scotland.
Switzerland shares with Scotland the distinction of being the best educated country in the world.

INDUSTRY.

Thank God every morning that you have something to do that day which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work and to do your best will breed you a hundred virtues which the idle will never know.—Charles Kingsley.

The Poetic Tennysons.

No other family has within two generations produced so many poets as the Tennysons. All the laureate's brothers wrote poems, and both his sons published verses in Macmillan's Magazine, though they did so anonymously. "It is a curious fact," wrote Alexander Japp in 1902, "that the Tennyson family, every male member of which wrote verse, and successfully, should have so far abstained from publishing openly or publishing at all, as if they disliked the idea of coming into competition with the great poet. Specimens of the work of Lionel and Hallam Tennyson will be found in 'Poets and Poetry of the Century,' and I may add that these pieces were sent to me by the old poet himself in a letter now before me, with such words as most certainly show that he did not share the feeling of Scott—thinking God that his sons showed no poetic symptoms."

He (vainly)—See that sweet little girl in pink? I was engaged to her the whole of last summer. Stranger (eagerly)—Very glad to hear it. I am the lawyer she's commissioned to sue you for breach of promise.

WIN YOUR SPURS.

Young men talk of trusting to the spur of occasion. That trust is vain. Occasions cannot make spurs. If you expect to wear spurs you must win them. If you wish to use them you must buckle them to your own heels before you go into the fight.—James A. Garfield.
